Highlights

Sleeper limited express Sunrise Seto

One of the two daily regular night trains with sleepers operated in Japan. Sunrise Seto is connected with Sunrise Izumo, the other night train between Tokyo and Okayama stations.

Naoshima

One of the islands belonging to Naoshima islands, located offshore of Shikoku, belonging to Kagawa prefecture. The island is probably well known better to foreigners than Japanese living outside of Shikoku as "Art island".

Iya valley region

A region in Tokushima prefecture, located close to other three prefectures of Shikoku. Iya is a mountainous region with deep valley, known to locals as one of the hidden places in Japan. A simple suspension bridge only for pedestrian built by woods and hardy kiwi vines, Iya no Kazura bridge is located here.

Udatsu townscape

Udatsu townscape is located in Wakimachi district of Mima city in western Tokushima. Wakimachi was a trading distribution center of Japanese indigo.

Mt. Bizan

Probably the most popular tourist destination in Tokushima city, the prefectural capital of Tokushima prefecture. 290 meters high, you can enjoy the magnificent view of Tokushima and its surroundings from the top.

Asa Coast Railway

The first railway operator to operate world's first regular basis DMV, Dual-mode vehicle.

DMV

Dual-mode vehicle is a vehicle that can operate on conventional road surfaces as well as a railway track.
